

VACCINES YOUR RABBIT SHOULD RECEIVE ONCE A YEAR

Myxomatosis Vaccine- all rabbits, including indoor rabbits should receive their first vaccines beginning at six weeks old. An annual booster shot is required.

Myxomatosis causes swelling which makes it difficult for your rabbit to eat, drink, or see.

Viral Haemorrhagic Disease (VHD) Vaccines- the VHD vaccine is first given at 10 weeks old. An annual booster shot is required.

VHD has no obvious symptoms and causes internal bleeding. Most animals die quickly of the disease with no obvious signs of illness
